Executive Officer/OS SUBJECT: AFGE and AFL-CIO v. Reagan Concerning the Executive Order for a Drug-free Federal Drug-free Federal 1. Executive Order 12564 signed by the President requires drug testing of all federal employees with certain limited exceptions. The American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE) has filed suit questioning the constitutionality of such a mandate. The AFGE filed discovery requests with the Department of Justice which, in turn, sent copies to all federal agencies, including the CIA, requesting a response. AFGE's discovery request is designed to examine the Government's factual basis for the order. As a result, the Office of General Counsel (OGC) has tasked the Office of Security for any documentation that is maintained on Agency employees and drug usage. 2. If your office maintains a database or any other organized information which can be queried to indicate Staff employees who have been identified as drug users, this information, as well as any statistics maintained on this issue, must be supplied as responsive information. The time frame OGC is concerned with is November 1986 through September 1988. A positive or negative response to this inquiry should be supplied to SAD/LIB, by COB 25 November 1988. This information will then be reviewed to determine whether or not any or all of these documents can be withheld from submission. 3. The AFGE filed discovery requests with the Department of Justice which, in turn, sent copies to all federal agencies, including the CIA, requesting a response. AFGE's discovery request is designed to examine the Government's factual basis for the order. As a result, the Office of General Counsel (OGC) has tasked the Office of Security for any documentation that is maintained on Agency employees and drug usage. 2. If your office maintains a database or any other organized information which can be queried to indicate Staff employees who have been identified as drug users, this information, as well as any statistics maintained on this issue, must be supplied as responsive information. The time frame OGC is concerned with is November 1986 through September 1988. A positive or negative response to this inquiry should be supplied to SAD/LIB, by COB 25 November 1988. This information will then be reviewed to determine whether or not any or all of these documents can be withheld from submission. 3.
